The Spindle

I see your true colors
shining through.
I see your true colors and that's why I love
you.
So don't be afraid to let them show;
Your true colors, true colors, are beautiful like a rainbow . . .

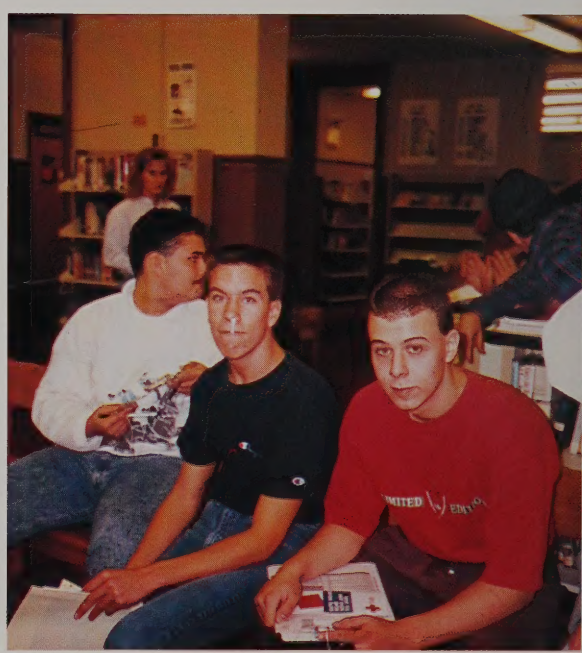
LHS HEROES

The fall blood drive was held on October 27, 1989 in the school library. Lowell High School set a record by donating 85 pints of blood to the American Red Cross.



POWDERPUFF FOOTBALL

The Powderpuff Football game was held on Wednesday, November 8th at Shedd Park. The teams practiced each week with members of the varsity football team in preparation for the big game. The Senior girls, led by Susan Ahern and Colleen Santos, were coached by Joe Sylvester, Joe Downes, Dave Moore and Ricky Creegan. The Junior girls were coached by Brian O'Keefe and Marty Tighe. After a long and tough game, played on a rain soaked field, the result was a disappointing tie . . . but the Seniors walked away with the award for Class Spirit.

HOMECOMING

Elizabeth Sheehy was crowned Homecoming Queen at the Halloween Dance. Her court consisted of Junior Debbie Lamarre, Sophomore Gloria Soukseunchay and Freshman Leah Green. Mickey Mouse crowned the Queen and the celebration began. The outdoor ceremony, which had been cancelled three times due to bad weather conditions, was held during half time of the postponed Thanksgiving Day game at Cawley Stadium.

"What you do matters"

With your graduation from Lowell High School you have reached a new plateau in your lives. Your first concern, naturally, is to explore and to follow career paths of your choice. Along with this you already have or will soon become of voting age. You and millions like you around the country must exercise active enlightened participation in the democratic process. You must help to reverse the disturbing trend of apathy. "What you do matters".
Congratulations and best wishes from the entire community of Lowell High School.

S. S. RAIDER

(Sung to the tune of Gilligan's Island theme.)

Just sit right back and you'll hear a tale, a tale of a teacher's plight, Centered in an urban site, where man must show his might.
The mate was a mighty working man, our skipper brave and sure.
A dedicated staff sets out each day on a six hour chore, a six hour chore.

The students started getting rough, the crowded tunnel rocked.
If not for the courage of the housemasters, the teachers would be lost,
The teachers would be lost.

Our day begins in the hall of this uncommon city school, with Mr. Samaras .....Mr. Stamas too

An English teacher .....and his wife

The office star,.....the Doctor, and Mary Ann,.....here at Lowell High.

This is the tale of our faculty. They're here for a long, long time.
They'll have to make the best of it, it's enough to cry.
The first mate and the skipper too, will do their very best,
To make the others comfortable, in this public school mess.

No thanks, low pay, no overtime, not a single luxury,
Like Mr. Sullivan without his socks, as helpless as can be.
So join us here each day my friends, you're sure to get a smile
From the very witty faculty, here at Lowell High.

GOODBYE MISS COLLINS

Mary Collins, an English teacher at Lowell High for nearly 27 years, is looking forward to freedom from the bells at LHS as is the class of 1990. She, like many of us, is also planning to take courses and travel. She claims to be retiring but it certainly does not sound that way. This of course comes as no surprise to her former pupils. She continually encouraged them to stretch themselves to their fullest potential whether in writing or grammar classes. She stressed the basics at all times. Her message to students was, "The greatest tragedy is not to become the person you're capable of being". This was spoken softly --- she did not carry a big stick. Miss Collins encouraged and helped whenever she could. Her students knew what she expected. Our thanks for your years of service and our very best wishes for a happy retirement go with you as you leave.

THE SPINDLE STAFF

We hope you like the book. Putting it together was not without torment. Loring Studio, the official yearbook photographer went out of business in April. There were pictures which were not delivered and some which were not taken. We did the best we could under strained circumstances. Our creative layouts are thanks to Kate LaFerriere. Carolyn Olsen organized our pages and writeups. Our dividers were sketched by Lisa Silva. Meg Regan did a little bit of everything. Thanks to Elsa Tran, Serena Tomm and Jennifer Secchiaroli for taking yearbook orders. To Martha Powers, Deana Demarais, Joe Downes, John Lyons, Tim O'Keefe, Tim Parent and Lily Woo, thanks for helping with sports writeups. The 1990 Spindle represents a lot of work and we are proud of it. Best wishes to the class from all of us, but especially from Kate and Carolyn, our editors in chief.

... the person who knows Larry, Gary and Pam personally.
... the person who says the dog ate the homework --- and gets away with it!
... the person who recalls studying weeks in advance for a one third exam while studying for a final in the four minute break between classes.
... the person who joined every club and organization existing to impress various colleges and missed every meeting held.
... the person who barely sent college applications in by the deadline, cursing the mailman daily while waiting for replies.
... the person who watches the baseball game from centerfield and not beacuse of getting a better view.
... the person who has mastered a parent's signature.
... the person who brings in a note claiming sickness on Senior Skip Day then has to be sent home suffering from severe sun burn.
... the person who takes the day out of school to get ready for the Prom, and shows up an hour late.
... the personwho has been praying for four years at LHS to finally come to an end and cries at graduation wondering where the time has gone.

UNFAVORITE LINES

That teachers say to kids...

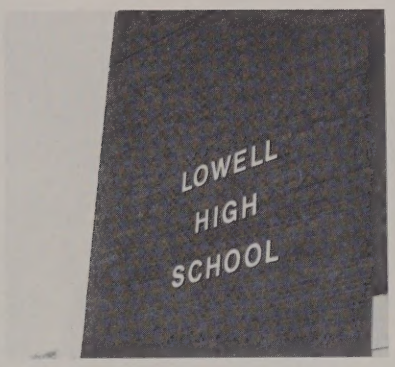
"Here's a short assignment for the weeked." (They don't mean short).
"I'll give you a little something to do over the break." (Cancel the trip to Florida, skiing or whatever).
"Come here, I want to speak to you".
"Report to me after school".
"Take this card to your Housemaster". (It's not a birthday card).
"Is there something you want to tell the whole class?"
"Some of you aren't with us".

That kids say to teachers

"Huh?"
"Did we do anything yesterday in class?"
"It wasn't me."
"This is boring."
"That's not fair."
"Who, me?"
"Why are you always picking on me?"
"I didn't have time ."
"I put it on your desk."
"I left it at home."
"Can I do it tonight and bring it in tomorrow."
"What page are we on?"
"What did I do?"
"Would you repeat that question?"

FRESHMAN YEAR

The first day ... the Tour of LHS ...the LHS handbook that no one read ... the "mod system" ... Housemasters' speeches ... "Who's your Housemaster?' ... "Where's the tunnel" ... "How come the tunnel is a bridge?" ... getting lost ... getting the wrong directions from Seniors ... being late for class ... getting "stuck in the tunnel" ... finding a table at lunch ... "So this is the Pool?" ... "I'm allergic to chlorine!" ... "Besides, it turns your hair green!" ... joining clubs and teams ... being kicked out of the library ... skipping for the first time ... getting caught ... Mossie's ... Captain Pizza ... the famous ARTHUR'S ... the first football game ... gorgeous football players ... walking places on weekends ... reading the Review in homeroom ... our first one-thirds ... St. Mike's Dances ... hanging out on the 3rd floor radiators ... LHS Football MVC Champs ... LHS Wrestling State and N.E. Champs ... Clean Up Day ...our first finals ... our last day as itsy bitsy Freshmen!



SOPH0MORE YEAR

Being "Silly, Silly Sophmores" ... starting school a day later ... copying down your schedule for every single teacher ... kicking freshmen out of "our" lockers ... the Thanksgiving game in the rain ... winning it in the last minute ... the homework hotline that no one ever called ... the Cemetery ... David Toma's speech ... always being bored ... never having a party to go to ...turning "Sweet Sixteen" ... taking the PSAT's ... "Care Free-- Get the Flavor with no sugar!"... more football games ... going to the "Rock" after football games ... wanting to drive ... reading Julius Caesar ... the Richard Marx Concert ... the basketball game at the Garden ... Chemical Free Weekend ... eating at Burger King after school ... outdoor pep rallies ... skipping pep rallies ... Cheerleaders State Champs ... another summer vacation coming up ... two years down and two to go!!

JUNIOR YEAR

The teachers' strike ... finally becoming upperclassmen ... the bomb scare ... finding a chair in the cafeteria ... no more food in the school store ... going to the Harvest ... finding a dress ... stepping in a puddle for your Harvest pictures ... finding out the Harvest isn't as much fun as you expected ... CPR ... "Annie, Annie are you O.K.?" ... getting inducted into National Honor Society ... running to get into the Library ... "I have a report to do!" ... going to New York with the Science Club ... the swanky "mentor" ... going on the Ski Trip ... counting down the days .. getting your license ... getting into your first accident ... Student Government meetings after school ... not getting out of class ... eating breakfast at Arthur's ... checking in late ... weekends ... the Rock ... the Cemetery ... the Tracks ... the Daley ... half days every first Wednesday ... the shortst Christmas vacation ... Cheerleaders in Dallas ... finding a job ... taking a swimming test ... having to swim anyway ... taking SAT's for the first time ... always having a party to go to ... "Where are the Tracks?" ... Champion sweatshirts ... St. Patrick's Day ... McDonald's ... school spirit ... pep rallies ... studying for the AP tests ... centerfield baseeball games ... skipping on Senior Skip Day ... going to the beach ... finally getting out of school ... Summer!!!

A Star Speaks Out

Fourth-grader Bart Simpson—at 10, perhaps TV's youngest wise guy—gets himself into trouble every Sunday night on Fox's popular animated series "The Simpsons."

Even though he's not a teen (and glad of it), Bart is so precocious that we thought we'd ask him a few personal questions:

Lynn Minton: Why do you think you get into trouble at school?

Bart Simpson: Because of dirty squealers, vengeful teachers and diabolical principals. I'm constantly amazed how nobody in the world has a sense of humor except me.

Bart: Enjoying his schoolwork

LM: What is your biggest gripe about your home life?
BS: Not enough escape routes, man.

LM: Do you think rock albums should be labeled for offensive content?
BS: Of course albums should be labeled, man. Why waste your money on music that won't disgust your parents?

LM: What do you think you'll be when you grow up?
BS: I'll either be the President of the United States or a master criminal. Or both.

LM: Complete the sentence, "I'm glad I..."
BS: ...Have eight years before I can be tried as an adult.

LM: If you could pick your parents, what qualities would they have?
BS: They'd be wealthy, generous, small and very, very slow.

LM: How has school helped you in life?
BS: What? I have no time for trick questions.

LM: What law would you most like to see passed or changed?
BS: To have the driving age reduced to 10

LM: What would cause you to change your ways?
BS: A little love and understanding. Of course, I wouldn't actually change, but it sure would be a lot easier to get away with stuff.

IN MEMORIAM

The Lowell High School community was saddened this summer by the tragic death of Christine Ntapalis. She was a warm and attractive member of our class. We will remember her as vivacious and fun loving, caring of her family and friends. She will be greatly missed.

CLASS ODE FOR 1990
"REMEMBER"

There's a new sun rising and its warmth beats down on me
I'm on the road of memories and soon I'll be set free.

Bonds and ties made through time stare back into my eyes
And through the years of endless dreams they're forever in my mind.

REFRAIN
Remember me, I'll remember you, things we shared, what we went through.
Remember the tears, remember the laughs, never forget for it's all that we have.

Through times when I was scared, you took hold and led the way,
Holding tight, not letting go, that's with me to this day.

Just a wing and a prayer in this world on my own
Wishing for what I have used to have, but I can't go back home.

Remember me, and I'll remember you, things we shared, what we went through,
Remember the tears, remember the laughs, never forget for it's all that we have.
Remember me, I'll remember you, the things we did, the ones we knew.
I'd give it all up to do it again. It's just not the same without you, my friend.

The way your friends would joke, lighthearted all day,
That special one would look at you and send you away.

The innocence of youth slips right through our hands,
Hold on to it forever; there's only one chance.

Remember me, I'll remember you, things we shared, what we went through.
Remember the tears, remember the laughs, never forget, for it's all that we have.
